

Women Who Hunt

Confidence is built here.

A space for women stepping into the outdoors.

Women Who Hunt is a community and media platform supporting women exploring hunting, fishing, and the outdoors — at their own pace. Real, welcoming, and grounded in shared experience.

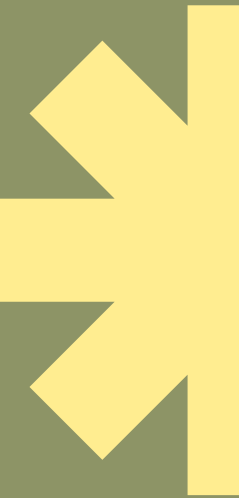

Making the outdoors feel possible.

We're here to make hunting and the outdoors more accessible, welcoming, and real for women across Australia. Through storytelling, education, and genuine connection, we help women take that first step into the wild with confidence.

Who We Reach

Women curious about the outdoors.
Beginners building confidence.
Women returning after time away.
Families stepping into it together.

How We Connect

From podcast conversations and storytelling to real-life experiences in the field, social media engagement, and beginner-friendly educational content — we meet women where they are on their outdoor journey.

Built on Trust, Not Noise

Real stories. Not scripted content.
Genuine connection built through shared experience.

Ways We Work Together

Ways to work together:

- Podcast features
- Social media integration
- Website presence
- In-field product use
- Event collaboration

Real, Not Staged

Your brand shown in the field. In real conversations. As part of the journey.

Not ads - part of the experience.

We integrate partners authentically into our content, showcasing products in genuine outdoor moments that resonate with our community.

Why Partner With Us

Early, engaged, and growing. Women Who Hunt offers a fast-growing space with strong community connection. Partners gain authentic exposure to a dedicated audience of women exploring the outdoors. This is an opportunity to grow together from the ground up.

Let's build something meaningful together

Let's build something meaningful. We're looking for partners who share our values and want to grow with an engaged, authentic community of women stepping into the outdoors.
